Apr - Oct 9AM-12:30PM & 2:30PM-7PM Nov - Mar 9AM-12:30PM & 2:30PM-6PM Walking around the cathedral: FREE Cloister area: €3 Perched on a hilltop standing watch over the city, the Porto Cathedral (known as the Sé) was originally built between the 12th and 13th centuries, and features a variety of architectural styles, including Romanesque, baroque and gothic. The fortress-like church is the largest in the city and one of Porto's oldest monuments; it's flanked by twin towers and has a rather plain stone facade. But inside the Sé you'll find a beautiful stained-glass rose window, a collection of centuries-old sculptures and a silver altarpiece that was once used as the bishop's study. Meanwhile, the cloister boasts cobalt and white ceramic tiles that depict different scenes from religious history. Most travelers say visiting the church and cloister is absolutely worth an hour or two, noting that the exterior is remarkable but the interior is exquisite.
6:00pm	Luís I Bridge Ponte Luís I, Porto, Portugal	Se do Porto —> Luís I Bridge Walking distance: 190m	Free. This iconic arching iron bridge straddles the Douro River, connecting Porto to Vila Nova de Gaia. Though Porto is known for having quite a few bridges, the Dom Luís I Bridge is especially renowned because it was designed by a student of Gustave Eiffel, the mastermind behind the Eiffel Tower in Paris . Plus, at the time of its completion in 1886, this bridge was the longest iron arch in the world. The bridge accommodates cars on its lower level and Porto's metro on its upper level; pedestrians can walk along the bridge on both levels. Stroll along the upper deck of the bridge and you'll be rewarded with spectacular views of the edifices built into the hillside cliffs that line the river. The top carries the Porto Metro trains as well as having a pedestrian walkway

2:00pm	Sé Catedral Sé Catedral, 3810-082 Aveiro, Portugal	Praça do Peixe —> Sé Catedral Walking distance: 700m	Open daily around mass times. Entry is free. Aveiro's main cathedral, also known as the Church of St Dominic, is a majestic National monument that was built in early 15th Century. The simplistic external limestone facade exhibits the original Gothic design but the rest of the church underwent significant baroque renovations in the 17th and 18th Centuries.
	Museum of Aveiro (Museu Santa Joana)	Just right next to Se Cathedral	The museum is open 10:00 to 18:00 Tuesday to Sunday. Entry costs €4 (children under 12 go free) The Museum of Aveiro (Museu Santa Joana) is housed in the 15th Century Convent and has been enlarged with a new modern building that intertwines with the old baroque convent. Visitors can chose to look around the ground floor with its exuberantly crafted chapel, cloisters and tomb of Princess Saint Joana (daughter of the first king of Portugal) or walk around the upper floor with its permanent exhibitions.
